

24+ Advanced Learning Loan

Aged 24 or over and thinking about further education?

If you're starting a course on or after 1 August 2013 you may qualify for a 24+ Advanced Learning Loan. These loans help you to pay the tuition fees charged by colleges and training organisations.

Most learners aged 24 and over, studying at level 3 and above, will qualify for these new loans from the UK government. It's easy to apply, your household income isn't taken into account and there's no credit check. You won't have to pay anything back until your income is over £21,000 a year.

How much can I get?

The amount you can get depends on your course, the tuition fees charged by your college or training organisation and maximum amounts set by the Government.

The minimum loan amount is £300.

You can take out a loan for the maximum amount to cover your tuition fee or you can pay all or part of the tuition fee yourself.

Course tuition fees

The tuition fee for your course will be set by your college or training organisation. They'll confirm the cost before you enrol.

How's the loan paid?

Student Finance England (SFE) will pay your agreed tuition fees to your college or training organisation once they've confirmed your attendance on the course.

You can apply more than once

Once you've completed your course, you'll be eligible to apply for more 24+ Advanced Learning Loans (up to a total of four loans) to help you progress in your studies.

Repayment

Repaying your 24+ Advanced Learning Loan is straightforward.

- Your monthly repayments will be based on your income, not what you borrowed
- You'll only start making repayments when your income is more than £404 per week, £1,750 per month or £21,000 per year
- You'll only pay back 9% of any income above £21,000 a year, see the table below for examples of what you'll repay:

Income each year before tax	Monthly salary	Monthly repayment
Up to £21,000	£1,750	£0
£22,000	£1,833	£7
£25,000	£2,083	£30
£30,000	£2,500	£67
£35,000	£2,917	£105
£40,000	£3,333	£142

So, if you're paid monthly and earn £2,500 before tax you would repay 9% of the difference between what you earn and what the individual threshold is: £2,500 - £1,750 = £750

$$9\% \text{ of } £750 = £67.50$$

Your loan repayment would be £67 in that month.

If your income drops or rises, for example if you receive a bonus, your repayment amount will automatically change to reflect this.

You can make voluntary repayments at any time to pay off your loan more quickly.

- If you're self-employed you'll be responsible for making student loan repayments as part of your annual self-assessment tax return
- If you're employed, you don't need to do anything. Your employer will take your repayments directly off your salary as they do with tax and national insurance contributions
- If you stop working, your repayments will stop and only start again when your income is more than £21,000 a year
- You'll be due to start repaying your loan in the April after you leave or finish your course – whichever comes first. If you leave or finish your course before April 2016, you won't start making repayments until after this date
- Any loan remaining 30 years after you're due to start making repayments will be wiped

Interest

Interest on your loan will be based on inflation (Retail Price Index (RPI)).

The table below shows how interest is calculated:

	Interest rate
While you're studying and until the April after you finish or leave your course	Retail Price Index (RPI) plus 3%
If you finish or leave your course before April 2016	RPI plus 3% until the April after you leave your course then RPI
From April 2016	Interest will be based on your income. £21,000 or less – RPI £21,001 to £41,000 – RPI plus up to 3%, depending on income £41,001 and over – RPI plus 3%
